Signet rings

This article is an expansion based on a canon element. For canon information on this topic, follow the link to The Witcher Wiki: Signet rings.

This fan-fiction article, Signet rings, was written by Witcher190. Please do not edit this fiction without the writer's permission.

The signet rings, are a series of rings, used by various organizations / exclusive groups, which allow to have access to these, privileges or the power to pass to certain areas banned for the general public once you show the ring. Normally, these rings are mostly used by criminal organizations, but there are some exceptions to signets rings used by religious groups or governments.

Some examples are the following:

- Yakuza signet ring: Ring used by this criminal organization, which reveals to you as one of them. Each Yakuza usually wears a different signet ring, which reveals their rank and status within the organization.
- House of the Night signet ring: This ring gives you a discount at the House of the Night brothel.
- Royal Palace signet ring: Used by the monarchies of the Far South given to their honorary guests As its name suggests, it allows you to tour the royal palace without any problem.
- Yardie signet ring: Ring used by this criminal organization, which reveals to you as one of them. Each Signet usually wears a different signet ring, which reveals their rank and status within the organization.

- Sapphire signet ring: Used by the Mejays. It is used to give the Mejays access to the Hannu temples without the need for them to be purified first.
- Eternal Fire signet ring: It allows someone who is "hated" to enter a temple of the Eternal Fire. It is like a safe-conduct that assures you not to be condemned by this religion.
- Aen Woedde ring (Legend) : Mythical ring, which would allow a traveller lost in the forests of the south to receive help and hospitality from an Aen Woedde elf.
